

Sunday 29 September

W D Trotter Anatomy Museum guided tours

A unique, fascinating collection of anatomical specimens and models dating back 100 years.

9:30am, 11:30am, 1:30pm • 419 Great King Street
Limited numbers, bookings essential • Tel 0800 80 80 98

Walking tours of Dunedin's shoreline

Step back in time and walk along Dunedin's shoreline in 1865 for a tour of early Māori and Pākehā Dunedin with Matthew Schmidt.

10–11am and 1–2pm • Meet at the Exchange, 263 Princes Street, 10 minutes before tour begins
No bookings required

Tweed Ride

The first bicycle built in Auckland was ridden for the first time in 1869 in Dunedin. Get on your bike and join the annual fun ride from the Gasworks Museum for a Steampunk and Victorian welcome on arrival at the University Clocktower. Prizes for the best-dressed riders.

Meet at 9:50am at the Gasworks Museum, 20 Braemar Street, South Dunedin • Ride takes place 10–11:30am
$5 per person / $10 family (proceeds to the Gasworks Museum)

Children's heritage treasure hunt

Collect your treasure map from the ground floor of the Staff Club and begin your exploration of the campus. Colouring sheets and a giant colouring board are available. Prizes on offer.

11am–2pm

University of Otago heritage buildings walks

Learn about these fine Gothic buildings, the people and the trials and tribulations of NZ's oldest university as it expanded.

11:30am–12:30pm and 3:30–4:30pm • Meet at the University sign outside the Visitors' Centre, Cumberland Street
Limited numbers, bookings essential • Tel 0800 80 80 98

Archaeological Programme open day

Explore an archaeology lab and learn about recent research projects, including a contribution to the 1869 heritage theme: understanding the growth of urban Dunedin in the 19th century through excavation and material culture studies.

1–3pm • Ground floor lab, Richardson Building

Concert – Phillip Neill Memorial Prize in Music

Established in the year of his death, in 1943, the Phillip Neill Memorial Prize in Music is celebrating 75 years in concert. Featuring Terence Denis, Anthony Ritchie, Peter Adams and Corwin Newall.

3pm • St Paul's Cathedral, The Octagon
Koha. All proceeds to the Dunedin Night Shelter

Heritage films screening – Film Heritage Trust

Sit back and enjoy local film footage from the 1930s for a nostalgic glimpse of Dunedin and life at the University. Commentator: Maurice Hayward.

5–6:30pm • Quad 4 Lecture Theatre, Geology Building

Useful information

Café Albany

ISB Link Building. Open 10am–9pm

Campus Watch

Campus Watch teams will be available to assist with directions and answer your questions. The campus is non-smoking and pedestrian-friendly.

Event cancellation

Cancellations will be broadcast on the MyLittleLocal app, More FM 97.4, The Breeze 98.2 and the University of Otago's Facebook page.

Parking

University-owned carparks are free to the public at weekends.

Toilets

Toilets are available in the St David's complex and the Student Union.

150th Mobile App – MyLittleLocal

Download for free from the App Store or Google Play. We encourage you to share your experiences by using the hashtag #otago150 when posting on social media platforms.

TOWN & GOWN
HERITAGE
FESTIVAL

dunedin

150
YEARS

1869

Conference & Heritage Festival

Ka muri, ki mua

25-29 September 2019

Festival programme

For further information:
heritagefestival.org.nz

Welcome to the University of Otago

The University of Otago was founded in 1869. This was a year in which there were many scientific, political, commercial, cultural and medical milestones. What began as a leap of faith by a group of settlers in 1869 has become a University with an international reputation. Join us in this Town and Gown celebration of our heritage.

Backstory – Heritage in words, pictures and threads

Tina Makereti (author), Lisa Chatfield (producer), Dr Catherine Smith (researcher), Dr Madeleine Seys (Victorian literature specialist)

Wednesday 25 September, 6–7pm • Castle 1 Lecture Theatre

150 years of Nature: The past, present and future

Dr Helen Pearson, Chief Magazine Editor of *Nature

2019 marks the 150th anniversary of Nature, the most authoritative scientific journal in the world.

Thursday 26 September, 6–7pm • St David's Complex Lecture Theatre

Dare to be Wise special exhibition

The University of Otago's 150th anniversary exhibition, Dare to be Wise, showcases articles, artefacts, stories and memorabilia from the first 150 years.

Daily, 10am–5pm • Otago Museum

Tuia – Southern Encounters

This exhibition weaves together taonga, images, maps and knowledge handed down from ancestors to tell the story of how 50 generations had been living in southern New Zealand when the first explorers from another world visited these shores.

Monday to Saturday, 10am–5pm • Hocken Gallery

The Fabric of the University

View the tapestry that took six members of the Otago Embroiderers' Guild a year to complete, and features the buildings, pioneers and landscape of the University.

Saturday 28 September, 11–11:30am • St David's Complex ground floor

1869 the Year that Was

de Beer Gallery, Special Exhibitions, first floor Central Library

Saturday 28 September, morning

1869 Conference

Day pass, $45. Register: otago.ac.nz/1869/registration

Tea, coffee and light refreshments, 8:15–9am

Landscapes

Jonathan West, Warwick Brunton, Mark Schmidt, Jane McCabe

9–11am • St David's Complex Seminar Room C

Intellectual Networks

Peter Clayworth, John O'Leary, Kate Hannah, Helene Connor

9–11am • St David's Complex Seminar Room D

Dunedin People, Places and Institutions

Lyall Hanton, Susan Irvine, Sarah Gallagher, Rosi Crane

9–11am • St David's Complex Seminar Room E

Reformers and Campaigners

Anna Clark, Chieko Ichikawa, Jane Tolerton, Joanne Wilkes

9–11am • St David's Complex Seminar Room F

Morning tea, 11–11:30am

Keynote address: Breaking the rules, transforming the future

Tilly Boleyn, Curator, Science Gallery Melbourne

Scientific and cultural institutions worldwide have traditionally focused on knowledge creation and production. But what then? How do you engage the “general public” with all your excellent knowledge? And how do you share that knowledge to create a scientifically literate society ready to tackle the world's biggest challenges?

11:30am–12:30pm • St David's Complex Lecture Theatre

Thank you for joining us in celebrating our 150th anniversary

Saturday 28 September, afternoon

University of Otago heritage buildings walks

Learn about these fine Gothic buildings, the people and the trials and tribulations of NZ's oldest university as it expanded.

1:30–2:30pm • Meet at the University sign outside the Visitors' Centre, Cumberland Street

Limited numbers, bookings essential • Tel 0800 80 80 98

University of Otago Geology Museum

The most scientifically important and largest collection of rocks, minerals and fossils in the South Island.

2–4pm • Geology Museum, Quad 4, behind the Clocktower Building
Recommended for children 11 years and older

No registration required

Heritage bytes – Southern Heritage Trust

Find out why this rapid-fire image and storytelling event has become a global phenomenon. Presenters have just 20 seconds to speak to 20 of their own images.

3pm • Quad 4 Lecture Theatre, Geology Building

Bluestone Awards

Presented every two years at the Dunedin Heritage Festival to acknowledge an outstanding contribution to the preservation and appreciation of Dunedin's heritage.

4:45–5:30pm • Staff Club

RSVP: admin@southernheritage.org.nz

OUSA book launch: Audeamus! We dare!

Celebrate the launch of Philippa Keaney's book with Professor Mark Henaghan.

5:30–6:30pm • Staff Club

RSVP: philippa.keaney@otago.ac.nz

Disclaimer: In the event of unforeseen circumstances (weather or otherwise) that disrupt the events planned, the organiser accepts no responsibility and reserves the right to change the programme accordingly.